 No, I decline the recommended Pre-Anesthetic/Geriatric blood profile testing prior to administering anesthesia to my pet. I also understand the increased risk of complications by not performing these tests before undergoing anesthesia. I assume full responsibility for this decision concerning my pet's health.

Microchip?

We recommend having your pet implanted with a microchip while anesthetized. Microchips provide a permanent form of identification if your pet is ever lost, stolen, or separated from you.

There is a one-time enrollment fee of $19.50 in addition to the microchip cost.

- Yes, I would like my pet to have a Microchip ID implanted. Cost is $45.00
